

R&D TAX CREDIT: DATABASE DOWNLOAD PROCESS

- Use the Database Download instructions and query your tax software for the data and place into an excel file.
- Send excel file to Source Advisors for review (note: you do not need to provide client name on the file, simply provide a client number).
- Source Advisors reviews the file and identifies clients most likely to qualify for R&D tax credits.
- Source Advisors presents the results of the analysis to the CPA firm contact who will then identify the CPA firm partner for each client with R&D potential.
- Source Advisors will coordinate a 30 minute call with each partner to discuss all of their clients identified as having R&D potential - this call will entail high level discussions on what each company does and their profitability.
- For clients who will benefit from an R&D tax credit project, begin the Feasibility assessment process.

Ask your IT or admin team to run a query from your software platform on last filed tax returns. The query should include the fields indicated in the chart. Export the data into Excel to allow us to easily review together. This routine will allow you to identify prospects for the R&D credit. Note that we do not want any client names, partner or preparer identification please - use system-generated IDs for those fields.
